

What's Happening in the Libraries

December 2018

Buchanan Library Fellows Presentations:

“The News as It Happened: Journalism in Vanderbilt’s Special Collections “
“Data Visualization and the Humanities”

December 4, 2018 3:30pm—5:00pm

Central Library Second Floor Gallery

Join undergraduate Buchanan Fellows as they present data visualizations, videos and exhibitions they created over the fall semester.

Curator’s Talk: “Sold by: John Bell and British Bookselling in the 18th- and 19th-Centuries”

December 5, 2018

11:15am—12:00pm

Special Collections Library

Using publisher and bookseller John Bell (1745–1831) as a launching point, curator Rachel Lavenda will walk us through some highs and lows of the book trade during this pivotal era in Britain.

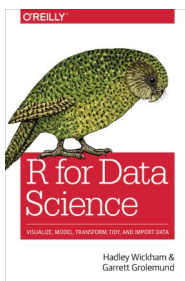

Stress Busters: Coloring Books and Origami+

December 7-15, 2018

Central, Divinity, Peabody, Science & Engineering and Music Libraries

Come color, fold, and create your way to a stress-less day. New activities this year include easy origami and a StickTogether collaborative mosaic craft as well as returning favorites such as coloring activities, puzzles and games.

R For Data Science: Dates and Times with lubridate

December 14, 2018

1:00pm-2:30PM

Central Library 800BB

This R programming group welcomes learners of all skill levels and academic backgrounds.

Save the Date:

February 7, 2019 Robert Darnton “Censors at Work: How States Shaped Literature”

April 11, 2019 Music & Stories: Marshall Chapman and Friends