

What's Happening in the Libraries

January 2019

Celebrate 1923!

January 15 12:00 - 2:00 pm

Central Library Lobby

Come to the library to celebrate all things made in 1923 that came into the U.S. Public Domain on January 1, 2019! It's also a time to recognize open source information in all its forms, from Wikipedia to Creative Commons. Cake and Wiki swag will be distributed while supplies last.

Digital Scholarship Workshop: Finding and Using Open Digital Content

January 25

11:10am—12:00pm

Central Library 418A

This presentation will address common copyright concerns in born-digital projects. Participants will gain an understanding of copyright as it applies to these works, how to manage their own copyrights in creative works, and how to find online, legal, content that can be reused, repurposed, or otherwise integrated into multimodal assignments.

Exhibitions Now on Display

The News As it Happened: Journalism from Vanderbilt's Special Collections, (through February 2019), Central Library (Second Floor Gallery)

The Daily Diary of the American Dream: The History of Nashville's Newspapers, (November 19, 2018-March 15, 2019), Central Library (Fourth Floor Lobby)

African American First Editions from the 20th Century, (November 14, 2018-March 1, 2019), Special Collections Library

Kirkland Hall: A History (through January), Special Collections Library

Digital Futures, Archeological Pasts, (through January 31), Vanderbilt Fine Arts Gallery

Then & Now: Five Centuries of Woodcuts (January 10-March 1)), Vanderbilt Fine Arts Gallery

Save the Date:

February 7, 2019 Robert Darnton "Censors at Work: How States Shaped Literature"

March 13, 2019 What Would Mrs. Astor Do? Cecelia Tichi Reading & Book Signing

April 11, 2019 An Evening of Songs & Stories with Lee Smith, Jill McCorkle, Marshall Chapman & Matraca Berg